FIFER AND OUR PATRIOTS
Have our Macon county republicans been paying proper attention to the appointments that are being made by Gov. Fifer? They can secure a list of these appointments by consulting the daily papers. They can hear nothing through inquiry among their neighbors, for none of their neighbors are consulted at Springfield, not even mentioned, and perhaps never thought of. A couple of our local papers have assured us from time to time that the republicans are ruling the roost in Illinois. We have often been tempted to ask them for their proof of the assertion. The most certainly have it on hearsay, for surely none of their acquaintances are taking an active part. Fifer has made a great many appointments of one kind or another, but he has invariably held aloof from the patriot from Macon. He does not even regard our fellows as good enough to be used to stop cracks.

Only a day or two ago he appointed 20 delegates and 20 alternates to the national silver convention to be held in St. Louis, November 26. Here were 40 chances for Macon to receive recognition and yet our good old county failed. 40 times we were passed by and the end has not come yet. In the last few months there must have been 300 or 500 appointments of similar minor importance by Fifer, but Macon county passed through it all unnoticed. One would think that our fellows are a set of ostracized criminals to touch whom would be political contamination. The only thing done for Macon was to bundle home to it a few of its previous citizens who formerly bore commissions of the state. This is a style of recognition that is not regarded as entirely friendly. It is a silent declaration of hatred that will probably be very lasting.

And yet we can remember when Fifer was in our midst during the last campaign that he was treated to a great deal of attention that some people might call honor. The boys came out in all their trappings of campaign war and shouted quite lustily for Private Joe a carriage was placed at the disposal of the magnificent candidate and he was decorated with the presence of some of our most distinguished citizens. Even a few score of ladies tramped through the mud in his honor. On that memorable day Fifer was generous with bows and smiles. He wore his honors easily as the were not yet securely within his grasp. He was ever gracious enough to make a speech in which he informed our people that it was each one's patriotic duty to vote for Fifer, and then a thousand men, unable to read the figure applauded this presentation of statesmanlike policy, and Fifer was happy for he saw the governorship a little nearer to him.

But how things have changed since. The candidate was successful the private put on the shoulder straps, and like many a man before him who had won unexpected and undesired promotion, he forgot a great many of the friends who had carried him over rough places on their shoulders. The gentleman doesn't come to Macon county now. He doesn't even send along enough of the fat of office to pay for that carriage in which he so complacently rode. The disconsolate republicans of Macon county are on the same dollar on that deal, and they have also tasted of the bitter ingratitude. The young ladies who tramped over the mud streets and were finally rewarded in some by way have not been rewarded. They have only lived to see their brothers ignored. Some of them may have caught cold, and this will stay with them long after their ideal of clay has passed out of sight. As a whole a demonstration ever resulted more deplorable.

But Fifer thinks himself all right now. He and Tanner are running things to suit themselves. An occasional report that the great private has been found unworthy of membership in some republican protective club may worry the political twins a little bit, but they keep right on running the state government in the interests of the interests of the most objectionable clique that ever bobbed up in our state politics.

WONDERFUL IF TRUE
No wonder careful men express a great deal of doubt about the reliability of the news from Brazil. Was ever such a thing heard of before? A revolution without bloodshed? An empire changed into a republic in a few hours without even a protest from the exiled emperor? Governors would not dare tell the story in babyland. The improbabilities of fiction have received many a strong jolt from the facts of reality, but the Brazil case, if one half the rumor prove true, must put to shame the wildest inventions of the novelist. Some body will have to add another chapter to the Arabian Nights' tales to tell this swift change of an electrical age. In deed there is no wonder that men wait for confirmation of the story.

How could it have happened? An emperor went to sleep at night, beloved by all his people, and awoke in the morning to find himself almost a willing object of exile. What dreams he must have had overnight. The people loved him just as well in the morning, but they had also, in a few hours, found places in their hearts for a still greater love of a republic. And it was not one single person who was thus strangely and suddenly affected. A few millions changed at the same moment. The miraculous conversions brought about by Christianity have always stood as evidence of its divine origin and sanction. And yet, the story of Jerusalem survives in detail when compared with the news that comes from Brazil. If it is true, it is the first and real truth in the history of the human family.

And who could have done all this work in a few hours, and so softly as to leave no possible shadow behind? Who will say that it is only the work of a most powerful conjurer? Why the conjurer himself would be a part of the miracle. To think of a man, a part of the miracle that we are told is taken place. This must have been more than a conspiracy here. Why, the whole nation is in it, and millions don't conspire, they resolve and declare. And we have had no rumors of the change that was proposed. Even the crank reformer and the prophet of evil, and of course this species exists in Brazil, was not given an opportunity to tell his old tale of probable woe. Everybody was surprised and yet not a step was lost in the forward march.

It is pleasant to think that such a transfiguration was brought about on account of the fact that the people on American soil breathe in the idea of a republic. Away from the vitriol splendors of a half hundred houses of royalty the American has an opportunity to see that kings and emperors are neither the necessities nor luxuries of a national existence. And this is a great deal to learn. Even England with all her boasted intelligence has not learned it yet. And there is always the dread that bright and witty France will go back to the days of hereditary rulers.

But will the all pervading idea of a republic, that we flatter ourselves exists on American soil account for the story that comes from Brazil? Who can tell? And yet we all hope that it will. And these are the Latin in Brazil. The Anglo Saxons have not counted that blood for much. And yet here is a Latin people lying down in a camp and taking up a republic with as little concern as the noblest despot of a Nor-man would change coats. But we know that the Latin blood was on time long ago. But it went to rest and cloaked. It has been stirred up a good deal during this last generation. Perhaps it will again take up life and show the world what it is capable of. A thorough and bloodless revolution in one night. That was a beginning which should warn us that we will have to move more rapidly or lose our place at the front.

This despatch has discovered that corn and wheat are beating cotton in the rice for kingship. We would like to remark that none of these have been aided by protection. In fact they have grown up to their present proportions in spite of the burdens of taxation that have been imposed upon them to take care of a few infirm industries that have somehow been coddled through a hundred years. If corn is king it would be patriotic to cease rubbing him.

The Herald's affidavit during, D. A. Perkins, is reminded that modesty has no charms in his abode. Let him add a few inches to his stature and gladden the smiling heart of his boundless foster father. Shoot or give up the gun.

Salvation On the greatest cure on earth for pain may be relied on to effect a cure when ever an external application can be used. It is a beautiful remedy for all kinds of pain. A walk in the beautiful moonlight, both catch a dreadful cold and give up all hope but find relief in a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, get married and are artists happy.

A DIVER'S EXPERIENCES.
A VETERAN'S TALK CONCERNING AFFAIRS UNDER WATER
The Pressure Sustained by a Diver—Divers from a Two Trip Ascent to the Surface—Various Interesting Objects Taken from Wrecks
Some very interesting facts relating to diving have been told the writer by George W. Fuller, a veteran submarine diver and inventor of submarine apparatus. In a talk with Mr. Fuller relative to the pressure sustained by a diver when in different depths of water and other matters of a submarine nature, he has explained many curious facts which are not generally known. He has also explained the various conditions of the impressions received by the writer during his recent trip to the bottom of the sea. Mr. Fuller has shown me that the pressure is about four pounds to the square inch. He goes on to say that even his pressure is not enough to make him feel the weight of the water. He says that he has been twelve square feet of surface upon which this tremendous pressure is exerted and he is in 100 feet of salt water, exposed to a pressure equal to about thirty-eight tons pressing evenly toward a common center.

PHYSIOLOGY AND PICTURES

For Men Only, at the Grand Opera House This Evening.

Prof. Edwin F. Rush, M. D., the eminent physician and lecturer, will deliver his famous illustrated medical lecture, to men only, at the Grand Opera House on this (Wednesday) evening.
Prof. Rush occupies an eminent position among American scientists as an authority upon the medical and surgical diseases of his own sex. For many years he was professor of genito-urinary surgery and venereal diseases in one of the foremost American medical colleges, and was formerly assistant physician of the celebrated Hot Springs of Arkansas. He has contributed much to the medical literature of the present age, and has made many valuable discoveries in medicine. Dr. Rush is a fluent speaker, and possesses a decided vein of humor. He handles his subjects in a masterly manner, and while using plain words, is yet eloquent and impressive.
His lectures are illustrated by a large and valuable collection of colored slides, and thrown upon 1,000 square feet of canvas by a powerful oxy-hydrogen stereopticon. These views are original and cannot be duplicated; the collection being valued at $5,000, most of them taken from life, and illustrating in a vivid and thrilling manner the terrible consequences of vice and error. Several of these views will never be forgotten by those seeing them, and in themselves furnish more potent warnings than any of the most famous lectures of the world. Dr. Rush is a fluent speaker, and possesses a decided vein of humor. He handles his subjects in a masterly manner, and while using plain words, is yet eloquent and impressive.

A BIG DEAL

A citation was issued by the County Court yesterday to L. F. Butler to appear in court and show what rights he had in the business conducted by George F. Kessler. Sheriff Maury served the papers on Butler and in the afternoon he came into court and accompanied by his attorney, I. A. Buckingham. A large number of witnesses were examined. Many of them testified that they had heard Kessler speak of Butler as his partner. Two of the most effective were J. S. Sticket and Max Cohen. Both had gone to Kessler about some business matter and been referred to Butler as "my partner; whatever he says is all right." D. L. Bunn appeared for the administrator, Albert Barnes, and asked the witnesses questions. When court adjourned the matter had not been concluded.
Marshal Mason received a letter yesterday noon from Kessler's brother in Philadelphia telling him to go ahead and have the body buried here, as none of the relatives would be here. He said they couldn't afford to come, and he proposed the business was sufficient to pay the expense of a quiet funeral. The body will be taken from the vault and buried in Greenwood.

Royal Arch Degree.

The meeting of Macon Chapter, No. 21, last night was an unusually well attended and interesting one. The Royal Arch degree was conferred on three members, P. C. Palmer, W. H. Elwood and Conductor Ed H. Jones. Besides a large attendance of local members, about 40 visitors were present from Illinois, Springfield, Buffalo and Monticello. After the work a banquet spread in the banquet hall of the Masonic building was enjoyed. Try 99 going west on the Wabash, was held until 12 o'clock and a coach was attached to it for the visitors from the towns west of the city.

A Big Jump.

George Paxton, 13 years old, the son of James Paxton, and a pupil in the room of Principal F. C. Wilson, at the Marietta street school house, was caught in mischief Monday afternoon by the principal. While Mr. Wilson went for a strap that he uses on such occasions, George made a dash for a window and jumped out, alighting on the roof, 15 feet below. He escaped with a black eye and a few scratches about the face. There was great excitement among the scholars and some of them screamed, but were soon quieted.

The Expert Hero.

Frank B. Rae, inventor of the electric railway system in use on the new street car line, arrived in the city last night from Detroit. He is accompanied by two mechanics, Robert Gibbs and W. J. Davidson. Mr. Rae says there is nothing inherently wrong with the system, and that he will soon have it in good working order. He will go to work doing that at once.

Good for the Police.

The police last night were giving street walkers pointers to stay off the streets and thereby avoid arrest. About a dozen took the advice. Decatur is well supplied with people of that class, and the police can gain a great deal in the estimation of the respectable part of the community by driving them out of town.

A Musical Party.

About 14 young people passed a delightful evening last night at the home of T. M. Keas, at 650 East Orchard street. Nearly every one of the guests was possessed of some musical ability, either natural or acquired, and as all had their instruments, quite an enjoyable concert was improvised.

PLEASANT RECEPTION.

Linn & Scruggs' Employees Spend a Pleasant Evening.

The first reception held in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Linn was tendered last night in honor of Alexander Dobbin, buyer for Linn & Scruggs at New York. Those invited were the salesmen at Linn & Scruggs, wives and sweethearts. In addition there were present a few distinguished citizens of the journalistic profession. Somehow or other people take it for granted that the newspaper follows will break in anyhow, and so no invitations are not wasted on them. Well, while it may be true that these enterprising fellows are able to laugh at locksmiths who would make lovers shed tears, yet they are able to appreciate something better than burglarizing sociability. All honor to Mr. Linn and his good wife for discovering these latent possibilities.

The reception hours were from 6:30 until 10 o'clock last evening. The invited guests began to arrive at the earliest appointed time, and all staid until the last moment. Altogether there were more than 100 people present, and every one spent an evening so full of enjoyment and other good things that it will not soon be forgotten. The opera house orchestra was in attendance and furnished its most pleasing music throughout the entire evening. Supper was served between 7 and 8 o'clock. Tables were set in two rooms and were loaded from a sideboard that can be appreciated only by those who have visited the house. It is one of Mrs. Linn's talents that cooking is a science, something that she took great pleasure in demonstrating last evening.

After supper the guests were given the freedom of the house, and they explored all of it. It is the best appointed residence in the city, and it was unstinted praise from everyone present. Those who wanted to dance had their wishes gratified. Some of the other fellows were shown to a set of billiard tables, and they were at full liberty to smoke and tell stories. Every body did what pleased him or her most, the pleasure of the company being looked after most carefully at all times by the host and hostess. The hours went by on the swift wings that always bear pleasure, and 10 o'clock must have come some minutes before.

Mr. Dobbin left on the Wabash for New York after the reception. He is a very pleasant gentleman and made a great many friends. As he was the occasion of so many enjoyable moments the departing guests hoped that he might soon again drop in upon his Decatur friends.

Seventeenth Anniversary.

Yesterday was the 17th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Prev, at 402 South Main street. Their friends remembered it and gathered in goodly numbers at their hospitable home last evening. They were heartily welcomed and made to have a good time. A fine supper was prepared and served, while games and music afterward served to pass the hours quickly.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. Morris and daughter Lila, Thomas Morris and Harry M. Morris, Sam Jamieson, Noah Childs and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rike, Miss J. B. Taylor, Miss Mat Cheney, P. Noble and wife, Emma Ederton, Miss Corn Albert, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hughes, John Cox and wife, Miss Little Hughes, F. Ferrie, George A. Newman and wife, John B. Childs, Miss Eva Randall, Misses Lida and Rosa McGowan, Harvey Smith.

Another Sneak Thief Burglary.

A burglar entered the residence of L. L. Haworth about 7 Monday evening and took three spoons and a child's knife and fork. He was frightened away before he got anything else. The thief entered by climbing up on the back porch, cutting a screen and opening a window. About 7 Mr. Bruce ran up stairs for something. A few minutes later Mrs. Haworth went up stairs and found the window open. It was not until the next morning that the articles were missed and the cut screen was noticed, so it was concluded that the burglar was in the house just before the open window was discovered.

Three Marriages.

William Schalla and Mrs. Mary Gorawski were married last night by Rev. J. L. Craemer, at the former's home, at the corner of Clay and Condit streets. Quite a number of their friends witnessed the ceremony. Charles James, of Warrensburg, and Mrs. Mattie Cambus, of Decatur, were married yesterday by Justice A. C. Stevens at his office.

The same justice performed at the same place the ceremony that united for life Henry J. Knowles and Mrs. Laura L. Greig, both of Pleasant View township.

Valise Stolen.

Dr. Elslager, the dentist, of Cerro Gordo, has been going down to Blue Mount every Tuesday for three years, and every Monday night he has left his valise at the Central house office. Last Monday night, however, the valise was stolen, and as it contained all his dental outfit, he could go to Blue Mount. All his tools and much of his outfit is about $125. He has informed the police and will pay a good reward for information leading to the recovery of the valise.

More Property Recovered.

Marshall Koffelt, of Clinton, and Detective Ballard came in last night from Chicago, where they were looking for more stolen property. Two watches, taken from near Clinton, were recovered.

A Few Friends.

Miss Bertha Harpstrite entertained a few friends last night at her home on West Main street. Dancing was the principal amusement of the evening.
